

Background

As a world class car rental business Avis UK needed to refresh their workspace.

Having occupied the same building for 17 years they needed to find a way to maximise new ways of working to aid communication and team integration together with providing an infrastructure to support their business needs.

How we delivered

The refurbishment of Avis's building, built in 1969, was a complex task predominantly led by Peldon Rose's team of in-house consultant engineers creating a fully air conditioned environment whilst refurbishing 7 floors during Avis's continued occupation. The end result is clean, professional and a true reflection of the Avis business.

A new reception was constructed on the ground floor, thus increasing the net useable space and giving the building a new dimension.
