

Background

Calvin Klein wanted to refresh and refurbish their London collection showroom to create an outstanding space for press launches, celebrity parties and catwalk shows.

The environment needed to be simple but stylish and create a sophisticated backdrop to the ever changing collections.

How we delivered

The refurbishment of the project was delivered over a 4 week period whilst Calvin Klein remained in occupation. The spaces were created using a minimal colour palette of white with simplistic rubber flooring.

The lighting scheme was integrated within an existing concrete coffered ceiling, thus making a feature.

The overall environment is flexible and allows change and reconfiguration, depending on seasons and events.
