

Background

iCrossing is a global digital marketing agency. They have over 12 offices world wide with more than 550 people sharing knowledge best practice and technology. In the UK, iCrossing have offices in London and this recently fitted out office at Moore House in Brighton. iCrossing needed to relocate from their existing offices in Brighton to a much larger 14000 sq ft, more contemporary and modern environment. They were assisted in this mission by Design LSM, a local Architect and Design firm, who produced all of the design scheme and specification for this Cat B, 2 floor project.

How we delivered

Peldon Rose were appointed as the main contractor to manage the delivery of the Design LSM scheme and to also add some design development to certain areas working to a tight deadline. This was a fast track project in every sense of the word, delivered to the highest quality and specification to create an office environment which is not only highly inspirational but challenges contemporary ideas to provide a very stimulating environment. The new interior encourages you to engage with your surroundings and develop your creativity.
