

Background

Having completed a successful refurbishment of the Knightsbridge office of Tullow Oil, Peldon Rose were appointed to undertake the relocation of three offices to create a world class HQ for them in Chiswick Park.

How we delivered

The scope of work was lead by exceptional design with an engineering bias in construction. The interior is highly specified, carefully detailed and contemporary. The workspace is planned to support project teams and also features an impressive conference suite and executive area.

To compensate for the increase in open plan working, non-assigned quiet rooms were incorporated between team areas. A large well-equipped breakout facility was designed to provide a place to meet colleagues in an informal setting.
